Mine Sinks Ship; 175 Missing

Disaster Strikes Suddenly

Over 400 On Pleasure Trip

COPENHAGEN — (UP) — The Danish passenger ship Kjobenhavn struck a drifting magnetic mine in the Kattegat off the Jutland coast early today and sank in 10 minutes with an estimated 400 to 450 persons aboard.

Unofficial reports several hours later said that 125 to 175 passengers and crew members were missing. Naval authorities reported that five bodies were found, one badly mutilated in the terrific blast that crushed the ship's hull.

The vessel was on a popular, 10-hour vacation run from Copenhagen to Aalborg in Jutland when it hit the mine at 7 a. m. (midnight EST) in clear, sunny weather. The ship went down in shallow water, leaving parts of the superstructure still above the surface.

Reports said the ship sank so quickly that only two lifeboats could be launched and that passengers could not reach lifebelts carried for just such an emergency.

The United Steamship company, owners of the vessel, said they did not know just how many persons were aboard. They estimated the total at 400 to 450, based on previous trips.

The Danish radio, in a broadcast four hours after the sinking, said 175 persons were still missing, including virtually all of a crew of between 40 and 50 members.

SHIPS AID VICTIMS

Ships rushed to rescue the victims, including the Kjobenhavn's sister ship, the Friga, fishing boats, and a tanker and schooner which were in the vicinity.

Those rescued were taken to Hals, on the Jutland coast. Officials said a number of the missing might be found aboard fishing vessels which may have put into other ports.

Steps were launched immediately to return those rescued to Copenhagen. The Danish airlines announced that an extra half dozen flights were being sent to Aalborg.

The Danish navy said about 3,000 mines, both of the magnetic and acoustic type, had been dropped in Danish waters during the war. Only 1,000 have been accounted for, the navy said.

Auto Output Slows Down

DETROIT — (UP) — Assembly line workers in Ford Motor company plants across the nation were in a one-day shutdown today, while a much larger group of General Motors corporation workers faced a week's layoff starting Monday.

About 230,000 production employees are affected by the curtailments, 200,000 of them at GM and 30,000 at Ford.

Another development on the widespread auto-labor front saw the 13-cent hourly wage increase pattern extended to 10,000 hourly-rated employees of the Packard Motor Car company.

At the same time, the company added from $75 to $200 to the list prices of all its cars, beginning June 14.

General Motors spokesmen said the layoffs next week would be blamed on steel shortages resulting from the last coal strike.

Truman Views Flood Areas

OLYMPIA, Wash. — (UP) — President Truman recessed his bombardment of Congress temporarily today to fly over the Columbia river flood area but said he would keep "pouring it on" until the November election.

His face flushed from campaigning by open car and his voice a trifle husky, the chief executive said he would carry his case from one end of the country to the other and added:

"Then, if you people want to continue the policies of the 80th Congress, that will be your funeral."

City Marks Its 140th Anniversary

Mansfield is 140 years old today. The city was located, mapped, and named June 11, 1808, by Jacob Newman, James Hedges and Joseph Larwell. They named the new community for Col. Jared Mansfield, then surveyor general of the United States.

There was no celebration of the anniversary today, but 40 years ago thousands of persons jammed the city for a centennial observance. Gen. Roeliff Brinkerhoff was the speaker, and the old blockhouse, now in South park, was moved to the courthouse lawn for the celebration.

2 of 4 OSR Escapers Recaptured

Alert Ashlander Tips Off Police

Two of the four inmates of Ohio State Reformatory who escaped yesterday through a hospital wall were back in prison today, facing longer terms behind bars to pay for less than 12 hours of freedom.

Louis Stanley, 31, New Orleans, and Rudolph Limauro, 20, Lynn, Mass., surrendered to Ashland Police Chief Harry Smith at 3:15 p. m. after a brief pursuit.

An unidentified employee of the F. E. Myers and Brothers company had notified Ashland police when he saw the men in an Erie boxcar standing on a nearby siding.

As Smith approached, the pair, still wearing prison garb, leaped from the car and started running down the tracks. They surrendered when Smith drew his pistol and ordered them to halt. The escapers were returned to the reformatory by prison officials shortly afterward.

Stanley and Limauro, both serving a one-to-20 year term for auto theft, were trustees at the reformatory hospital serving as nurses when they and two companions drilled their way through a bricked-up window in the reformatory hospital tower.

They will be called before the institutional court for hearing and probably will receive the usual penalty of an additional two-year sentence, reformatory officials said.

Charles Fetzner, 27, and Albert Connors, 24, who were patients in the hospital, still were at liberty today. Fetzner was serving a one-to-20 year term for auto theft and Connors was serving 10 to 25 years for robbery.

Wife-Buyer Fails to Put Up $10,000

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — (INS) — Mrs. Dorothy Lawlor is open for marriage proposals again — from men who have $10,000 and can show it "cash on the line."

The 28-year-old divorcee, mother of two children, called an abrupt halt yesterday to her want-ad romance with Daytona Beach bar owner Danny Wicker and said she was preparing to return to New York.

She said all she had received from Danny was a plane ride to Florida, a suite in a fashionable hotel and $10.

The husband-hunting blonde ex-hatcheck girl insisted she spent the $10 buying meals for herself and Danny.

Danny explained the end of the romance with the comment: "We were both too nervous to make a happy marriage."

Permission Given To Open Casket

AKRON — (INS) — Ernest Peterson of suburban Cuyahoga Heights has permission today to open a casket containing the body of his son, killed in action in the Pacific theater.

Peterson obtained permission to open the casket from Summit County Common Pleas Judge Claude V. D. Emmons in what is believed to be the first case of its kind in the country.

Draft Bill Action Up To House

Senate Approval Jolts Opponents

WASHINGTON — (AP) — House Republican leaders stamped an emphatic "must" today on enactment of a peacetime draft law next week.

Encouraged by the whopping 78-to-10 vote the Senate gave its selective service revival bill, House supporters were confident of sending a finished measure to President Truman before adjournment.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) told reporters the House bill will be called to the floor Tuesday or Wednesday. He predicted it will pass with only one day of debate. This would contrast with six days and three nights of Senate oratory.

House Rules Chairman Leo E. Allen (R-Ill.) said his committee will meet Monday to vote the House measure "up or down."

The bill has been awaiting rules committee clearance since May 7. With adjournment tentatively set for a week from Saturday, the bill cannot be debated in the House unless the rules committee approves it.

There are no fundamental differences between the Senate and House bills, but some provisions will have to be compromised.

Both bills would expire in two years, and both would require two years of military service for enough men from 19 through 25 to bring the armed forces up to full authorized strength.

Ohio Senators Split On Issue

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Ohio's senators split yesterday in the Senate passage of the draft bill. Sen. Robert A. Taft voted for the measure; Sen. John W. Bricker, against it. Both are Republicans.

Bricker later said the draft bill would weaken instead of strengthen the American position.

Raging River Breaks Dike

PORTLAND, Ore. — (INS) — The raging Columbia river broke through another dike just north of Portland early today, releasing flood waters over a rich district embracing the city's square-mile Columbia airport and other valuable properties.

All residents of the area already had been removed to escape the threatened renewed deluge, but the break forced army troops and civilian workers to flee for safety.

Included in the area swept by the fresh flood waters, besides the airport, are four golf courses, hundreds of homes, numerous fertile truck gardens and the Troutdale aluminum plant.

Desperate efforts were immediately made to close the new breach. But it was feared the crest-high flood would rip out additional embankments under the pressure of the rising river which had mounted to more than 30 feet at Vancouver, Wash.

This was only two-tenths of a foot lower than the previous highest crest of the June flood — and worst in northwest history — and marked the third time the river has surged upward.

The district is in a low-lying area a mile and a half wide that stretches north from Portland to the Columbia and embraces the northern suburbs and outskirts of the Oregon metropolis.

4 Trains Going Back In Service

COLUMBUS — (UP) — The New York Central railroad announced today that four passenger train runs abandoned March 21 through an office of defense transportation order to save fuel will go back in service Monday.

The runs are one leaving Columbus for Toledo at 10:05 a. m., another arriving from Toledo at 6:25 p. m., one leaving for Charleston, W. Va., at 9 a. m., and the fourth arriving from Charleston at 2:20 p. m. Hearing on the NYC's application to abandon the four runs permanently has been scheduled by the state utilities commission for Monday.

REGISTER—Two young Mansfielders were among the first to register yesterday for the "learn-to-swim" classes to be conducted by the Richland county Red Cross next month. Ivor Balyeat, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Balyeat, 374 Bartley avenue, is shown at desk registering with Gerald Coron (right), director of Red Cross safety services. Pleasant Kaufman, 9, of 233 Park avenue west, awaits her turn to register while her mother, Mrs. Worth M. Kaufman, and Sam Fox, Red Cross water safety chairman, look on. Wants to Help Mankind

Ex-Farm Girl Takes Policewoman Job

By W. C. PETERSON
A small, brown-eyed, auburn-haired former farm girl will become Mansfield's first policewoman on July 1.

Miss Marilyn Craven, 25, credit manager for a jewelry company, accepted the appointment today from Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison.

Craven alone took the test for policewoman. She scored 87.3 which T. A. Woodard, chairman of the civil service commission called "excellent."

NEW FIELD FOR HER

It's a new field for Miss Craven, she admits in her cheerful voice, but she always has been interested "in a career which would let me be of service to mankind."

"This is a new field for me," she confided. "I don't know what my duties will be yet but I think it's something that should help make our city better."

"I think a woman can be a little more understanding in handling some types of police cases than can men."

She's only five feet, two inches tall, but she's plenty capable. Her father died eight years ago and for the next year she and her mother operated the 300-acre Craven dairy farm on the Johnsville-Bellville road, a mile off U. S. Route 42.

"Mother and I milked 17 cows that year," she recalled. "Of course we had an electric milker but it still was a big job."

Her mother, Mrs. Aretha Craven, now resides with Marilyn at 278 Park avenue west. She thinks police work is the thing for Marilyn to try.

"Mother believes I should be in the work in which I'll be best satisfied," she said.

House Repair Fund Set Up

City Prepares Home For Airport Manager

City council last night authorized the transfer of $1,500 to prepare an old farm house at the airport site as a home for full-time port manager when one is employed.

The house, on old State Route 13, is at the north end of the airport.

The transfer was made from a $8,000 appropriation, set up by council for remodeling an old CCC building at the port for an administration building for the 321st Bomb group. Meanwhile, the group rented part of No. 7 hangar at the airport from Richland Aviation, Inc. No work was needed on the old building.

"Council just took the money from this fund instead of the general fund," Mayor Vaughn said.

The farmhouse, remodeled four years ago when the city took over the airport, has been literally looted of all facilities by the public.

"It can't be watched very well from the airport and the public has stolen the toilets, the electrical fixtures, the French doors and broken out every window in the house," Vaughn said.

"We hope to fix it up and rent it until things settle themselves so it can be used for a residence for a full-time airport manager."

When ready for occupancy, the house will be advertised for rental bids.

WORKERS REMAIN IDLE

CANTON — (UP) — Production and maintenance workers at the Hoover company, vacuum cleaner manufacturers, stayed away from their jobs today to enforce wage demands in the face of non-recognition of their union by the company.

The Wallace - for - president group yesterday asked the supreme court to compel Secretary of State Hummel to accept their nominating petitions and put them on the ballot. The court instructed Hummel either to comply with the request or show cause by June 26 why he should not.

from the Wallace supporters, who wanted to know why they were barred from the ballot.

Secretary Hummel, in a document filed with the Supreme court, said that Zahm, Zazrivy and Sindell were found to be communists in an investigation conducted by George S. Houston, chief investigator of the secretary of state.

Dougan said the investigator's findings were based on files of the FBI and the Cleveland police department.

The secretary of state filed portions of investigator Houston's report with the supreme court in answer to a demand

8.4-Cent Pay Hike Offered

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — The Westinghouse Electric corporation today announced it had offered three unions a six per cent wage and salary increase, plus an additional paid holiday for hourly paid employees.

A company statement said the offer was the equivalent of a 8.4 cent hourly increase.

The announcement came shortly after Westinghouse and the CIO-United Electrical Workers union resumed negotiations here on a new contract. About 80,000 employees in almost a score of states are affected.

There was no immediate word on the union's reaction to the offer.

The three unions are the United Electrical Workers, the Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried unions and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers-AFL.

Joseph Hawkins, president of Local 711, United Electrical Workers, CIO, could not be reached for comment today since he was attending the negotiations in Pittsburgh. Mansfield union officials did not believe, however, that the offer would be accepted.

PENSION PLAN STARTS

The company said that contingent on acceptance of the offer the company proposed to put into effect an expanded pension and insurance program amounting to an increased cost to the company of four cents an hour per employee.

The entire proposal was estimated by Westinghouse to cost an average of 12.4 cents an hour in pay and security benefits for both hourly paid and salaried employees.

A general wage and salary increase would become effective on the date the union notified the company of ratification of agreements by their locals.

Last April Westinghouse followed the lead set by U. S. Steel corporation by branding any "third round" of wage boosts "inflationary." At that time the company said pay increases could not be justified.

Liquor Bribe Trial Looms

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Indictments charging soliciting and accepting bribes were returned yesterday against A. E. Oppenheimer, chief permit examiner of the state liquor department.

Named with Oppenheimer in one of the two bills was Hugh M. Ruel of Portsmouth, chairman of the Scioto county Republican executive committee and a Taft delegate to the GOP National convention.

A third party to the two indictments was Tracy Pack of Portsmouth, a cab line operator.

The Franklin county grand jury, pausing in a weeks-old investigation of the liquor department, issued the indictments.

Oppenheimer, Ruel and Pack will be arraigned on or before June 21, the date set by Franklin County Criminal Judge John R. King.

In one indictment, Oppenheimer was accused of:

(1) Soliciting and accepting a bribe of $300 from Howard McCall, Springfield tavern operator, Nov. 23, 1947.

(2) Soliciting a bribe of $2,300 from Gilbert Shively of London, O., who with his wife operates the Shively hotel.

In a second indictment, Oppenheimer, Ruel and Pack were accused of:

(1) Soliciting $1,500 from Shively Feb. 19, 1948.

(2) Soliciting $1,000 from Shively the next day, Feb. 20.

Lewis Begins Union Parley

WASHINGTON — (UP) — John L. Lewis today called an unexpected meeting of the trustees of the United Mine Workers 1947 welfare and retirement fund.

Coal operators said they expected a new move by Lewis to get the controversial fund into operation. It now contains $40,000,000.

The meeting was scheduled for 3 p. m. (EST) — two hours after the operators resume contract talks with Lewis.

Probably Effective June 20

Officials Await Solicitor's View

Mansfield is going on "fast time."

City council approved last night by a vote of 5 to 4 an ordinance calling for daylight saving time during the summer months.

Councilman Harry J. Hollingsworth, sponsor of the ordinance, expressed belief today "fast time" would become effective Sunday, June 20, at 12:01 a. m. He and other city officials awaited an opinion from City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch before announcing the definite date.

Meanwhile, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said he would neither sign nor veto the bill but let it lie for the 10 days needed for it to become law. He issued a statement explaining his non-committal point of view.

"A year ago in February, 'the question of time change presented a problem to the residents of the city of Mansfield and community. At that time, as chief executive of the city I made this statement:

"Personally I like the fast time, but officially it is bad to be out of step with the railroads, the court house and other agencies, public and private, which will probably keep the present standard."

SAME POINT OF VIEW

"That again expressed my opinion on this subject and again, that my recommendations to city council would be to retain Eastern Standard Time unless there is a uniform state or national policy created."

In reversing its previous decision, council split along party lines. The five Republicans voted for the bill and the four Democrats against it.

The two councilmen who changed their minds since the 6-to-3 vote against "fast time" on March 22 were Councilman-at-large George Kyle and Second Ward Councilman Charles N. Shultz.

They joined with Hollingsworth, Thomas R. Wright and Clifford Knarr to make the necessary majority.

WITHOUT COMMENT

The measure was approved without comment from the legislators. As the clerk called the roll in alphabetical order, the issue was in doubt until Councilman Wright cast the ninth and deciding vote.

Meanwhile, initiative referendum petitions are being circulated asking that the time issue be placed before the general public in the November election.

Hollingsworth has stated that even though the measure has been approved, the referendum will be circulated so that the question can be settled once and for all by the people.

The ordinance approved last night establishes daylight saving time from the last Sunday in April to the first Sunday in September.

Taft Flays Truman Talk

PHILADELPHIA — (UP) — Senator Robert A. Taft declared today that President Truman's criticism of Congress "is an attack on the principle of representative government itself."

The Ohio Republican said "our gallivanting President" on his current western speaking tour is making "an effort not only to condemn this Congress, but to discredit the institution of Congress."

In his prepared address at the Union league, the GOP presidential candidate said Mr. Truman's attack on Congress "gives aid and comfort to all those who want to destroy representative government as do the communists, fascists and every believer in a totalitarian state."

Swim Instructors Will Go to School

Six of the instructors for the Richland County Red Cross annual "learn-to-swim" program in city and county pools will receive expert training in one of the national Red Cross aquatic schools in advance of the July 6 opening of the Mansfield program.

The six, Ruth Augsburger, Dorothy Monroe, Joseph Damoff, Robert Fox, Harriet Young and Pete Keiser, will leave Monday for Camp Limberlost, Lagrange, Ind., to start learning the latest methods of teaching Richland county boys and girls the safe way in which to swim.

They will be taught the most up-to-date courses in swimming, diving, life-saving, boating, canoeing, first aid and accident prevention.

The Camp Limberlost school will be in session from June 15 to June 25.

The vital need for swimming lessons, particularly among school boys and girls, was brought out forcibly recently in the survey which disclosed that 75 per cent of pupils in the first nine grades cannot swim.

TRAGIC DROWNINGS

"Because of this lack of training, there are many tragic drownings during the summer months in city pools and at beaches," Gerald Coron, water safety director of the Red Cross here, said yesterday.

Five Study Farm Plan

Five Mansfield men were in Kent Thursday where they studied with 150 Ohio bankers and guests the successful operation of the 146-year-old Howard Call farm.

These from Mansfield included: Sherman Wentz, cashier of the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank; C. N. Sutton, vice president of the Ohio Bankers association and executive vice president of the Richland Trust company; George Ganyard, Richland county extension agent; Charles Hoffman and Burr Knaus.

The program at the Call farm was sponsored by the agricultural committee of the Ohio Bankers association in cooperation with the Federal Reserve bank, Cleveland, and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State university.

The Call farm, like many Ohio farms, was rebuilt through modern farming methods. It had become worn out and unproductive. The 150 Ohio men at the farm yesterday studied the program that had put the Call farm back "on its feet."

Youth Placed On Probation

Albert Elliott, 18, of 335 Newman street, charged with statutory rape of a 15-year-old girl on May 5, was placed on four years probation yesterday in common pleas court.

Indicted by the grand jury on May 11, Elliott originally pleaded innocent to the charge. He changed his plea to guilty yesterday.

Baking Firm Denies Merchant's Charges

The Ward Baking company, Paradise View, one of the defendants in a suit for $25,000 filed Feb. 12 by Carl Sternbaum, today filed an answer in Common Pleas court denying plaintiffs allegations and asking that the case be dismissed.

Sternbaum, who operates Sternbaum's Complete Food Market, 421 Springmill street, alleged that the Ward company, the Continental Baking company and the Alfred Nickles Bakery, Inc., had combined in a move to force him to discontinue to sell bread at 17 cents a loaf, one cent lower than other stores supplied by the companies.

Committee Backs Taft Housing Bill

3 GOP Members
Vote With Dems

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Democrats staged an upset Thursday afternoon and forced the controversial Taft - Wagner - Ellender housing bill out of the House banking committee by a 14 to 13 vote.

As it emerged from the committee the bill contained provisions for 500,000 federally financed public housing units in five years, a slum clearance, an urban redevelopment program and rural housing aids.

The committee also had under consideration a housing bill sponsored by its chairman, Jesse P. Wolcott (R-Mich.). Wolcott's measure contained none of the controversial features of the Senate-approved T-E-W bill.

But three Republicans — Reps. Merlin Hull of Wisconsin, William

G. Stratton of Illinois and Hardie Scott of Pennsylvania—joined 11 Democrats to put over the provisions of the T-E-W bill.

The Democrats lost their first attempt to substitute the T-E-W bill for the Wolcott bill. The vote on that was 14 to 12.

At an afternoon session, however, the Democrats gained strength. With the Wolcott bill under consideration, they tacked on the provisions of the T-E-W bill for public housing, slum clearance and urban redevelopment, rural housing aids and a housing research program.

Amendments to add those provisions were adopted by a series of 14 to 13 votes.

The committee then voted 14 to 13 to report the bill to the House favorably. The House version of the bill will bear Wolcott's name but it has all the controversial T-E-W features.

They were added over the objections of Wolcott and a majority of the other Republicans on the committee.

The Niagara Falls have shifted their position about a quarter of a mile since white men first saw them.

"When all is said and done—" is still a popular expression, although in Congress much more is said than done.

It seems that ever since the sixteenth century there has been a "regular system of punctuation"—but apparently it is not being taken seriously by a lot of people.

Discarded Taxing Idea Being Revived

ONLY the desperate financial plight of some Ohio cities can account for appearance of majority willingness to submit to imposition of such payroll taxes as have been put into effect in Toledo and Columbus and now being considered in at least a few other hard-pressed cities which have unsuccessfully sought larger participation in funds derived from the state sales tax.

At a special referendum election Tuesday a majority of Columbus voters indicated approval of a one-half of one per cent payroll-corporation income tax, which was placed in effect the first of the year, by council action, and which is to extend through five years.

Intent of the tax is to raise $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 additional for city administration purposes, through an assessment on wages and salaries of all persons employed in Columbus, including those who live outside the city.

Added to real estate taxes, state sales tax, federal income tax, and other "hidden" but substantial taxes, coupled with present inflationary prices, this further drain on individual and family finances can scarcely fail to work hardship on many persons in low and moderate income groups, and, needless to say, should only be turned to as a last resort.

Mansfield, by the way, has had experience—more than twenty years ago—with what was then known as an "occupational" tax, similar in operation and purpose to the Toledo and Columbus plans. It was of short duration here, however, and those who have recollection of it will be slow to propose a local return to that taxing procedure.

There's Place to Dispose of Garbage

FOR MANSFIELDERS who do not subscribe to the city's rubbish and garbage service, the city provides a simple and inexpensive way to dispose of refuse. All you have to do is take the stuff to the garbage disposal plant and dump, located to the right, off Park avenue east (Wooster road) after passing the viaduct.

At the plant, garbage will be burned for you at a cost of only a penny a gallon or a dime for the ordinary garbage canful. Rubbish—tin cans, junk, and the like—may be dumped free of charge in the large area at the rear of the plant.

The plant and disposal area are easily accessible. There is a good road from a main highway. To take your rubbish there is far easier than to sneak down along a creek or a side street and dump it where it will be offensive to an entire neighborhood and possibly endanger the lives of scores throughout the city by providing a breeding ground for epidemics.

An estimated 4,500 Mansfield families dispose of their own garbage. So it is not a question of a small group causing trouble. Involved is more than a third of the population. Some burn their own refuse. For the remainder, the disposal plant offers the logical and sanitary way of getting rid of it.

When Bicyclists Ride On Sidewalks.

AMONG Mansfield's ordinances is a section which reads: "No one shall ride or propel a bicycle or motorcycle upon any of the sidewalks of the city of Mansfield."

This mention is not designed to suggest enforcement of that ordinance—it is merely to impress recognition of the danger connected with such encroachment on the rights of pedestrians to safe use of sidewalks and to stress the need of greater care on the part of children who have become accustomed to ride their bicycles on sidewalks and who have probably never been told that this is "against the law."

Timeliness is given this subject by an occurrence on Marion avenue a day or so ago when a woman crossing the sidewalk from a store door to her car, parked at the curb, was knocked down and injured when struck by a bicycle on which a teen-age boy was riding.

Danger to youthful bicyclists riding in streets is so generally recognized that riding on sidewalks has become tolerated as a safety measure—but there should be no minimizing of the need for great care on the part of bicyclists, with full understanding on their part that pedestrians have "the right of way" on sidewalks at all times.

Plan to Increase Steel Output

DR. R. E. ZIMMERMAN, of the U. S. Steel Corporation of Delaware, has taken sharp issue with those who accuse the steel industry of failing to measure up to its responsibilities in producing the steel this country needs.

Last year, the industry produced 63,000,000 tons of finished rolled steel products. That was about 53 per cent of total world production of the metal. And it marked an increase of 60 per cent over 1939.

It is true that new steel-making capacity has been developed slower than the industry planned. The reason for that was shortages of skilled workmen, general labor, and materials—all beyond the industry's control. Yet, by early 1950, it is expected that the industry will have a rated capacity of 96,000,000 tons a year.

Today it costs about $300,000,000 to build a million-ton installation—more than three times the prewar figure. One of the toughest problems faced by steel is to carry on an orderly expansion program and, at the same time, hold the cost of its products down.

Harry Wade has noticed: "Next to putting up a house that used to sell for $9,000, rebuilding Europe runs into the most dough."

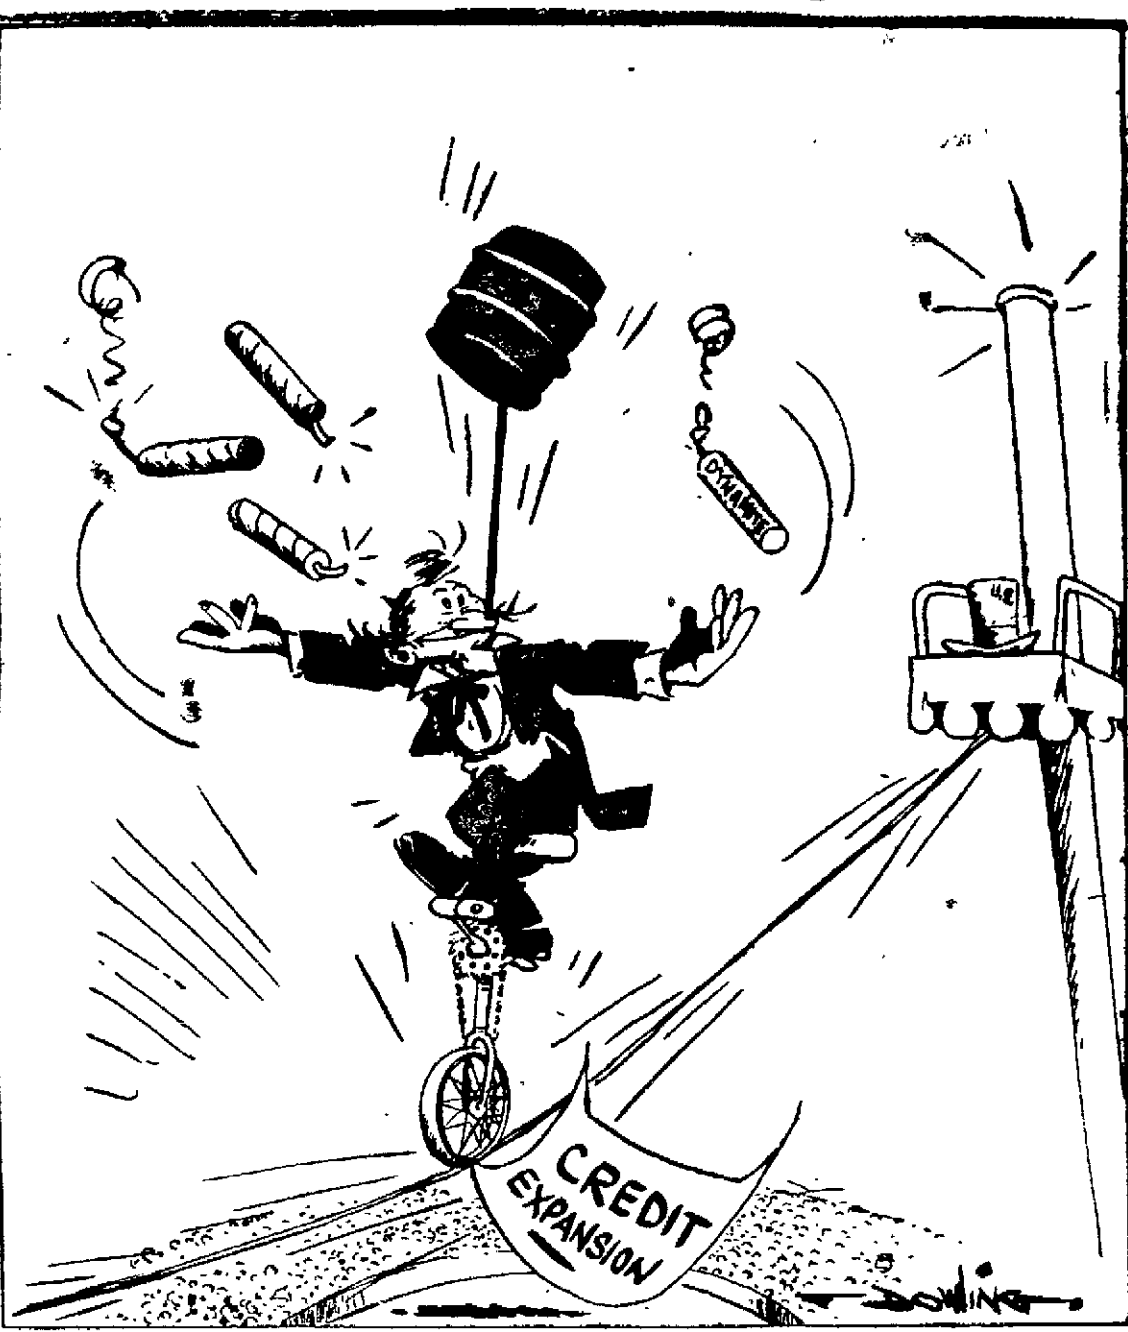

It is usually overlooked that for every June bride there is also a groom—who later gains recognition on Father's day.

What Some Other People Are Saying

SECRETARY MARSHALL: "The U. S. favors a united Germany but has consistently stressed that political unity must proceed from economic unity and that both must be based on recognition of individual liberties."

REP. MYERS (D) Pa.: "Harry Truman had the intestinal fortitude to recommend the draft bill. Let us have the intestinal fortitude to pass it and not require that president to 'push the button' about a month before election."

JAMAL EL HUSSEINI, spokesman for the Palestine Arabs: "Under the UN month-long truce the Jews are the gainers and the Arabs are the losers. There should be a plebiscite where citizens—irrespective of race or religion—will express their desire for a future government."

That's How He Got Hurt the Last Time.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Some Reduction In ERP Funds Justified

A LITTLE less heat and more light would be helpful in appraising the cut in the ERP made by the House of Representatives.

Some of the eastern denunciation of the reduction is downright hysterical. It is "a stab in the back," "a boon to Russia," "selfish isolationism" and other things too terrible to repeat.

The cut hardly measures up to such infamous terms, although it may have been unwise from the standpoint of domestic and international policies.

There was nothing sacred or irrevocable about the original figure of $6,533,000,000 for the first year of the plan. Some of the circumstances were bound to change, and some, but not all, have changed.

In the beginning, the European beneficiary countries asked for $29,000,000,000 over a four-year period. After some cutting the administration came up with a figure of $6,533,000,000 for the year. Then some more was added for China and some other countries, bringing the total to more than $7,000,000,000.

At that time, it was assumed in Congress that the administration's $7,000,000,000 figure was set as the basis of bargaining. Senator Taft suggested a considerably lower amount, as did former President Hoover.

Then came the rapid deterioration of Russian relations, the rape of Czechoslovakia and the Italian elections. The administration took heart and stuck to the original figure. Finally, the advocates of a lower figure gave ground, and $6,533,000,000 was agreed upon. At the same time, demands for national defense were lifted by $4,000,000,000.

Outlook Brightens.

ALL THIS, of course, increased very greatly the prospects of super-inflation—a fact which enabled the Truman administration to look more hopefully toward November.

But as is shown by the Taber committee's report, a good many items in the original plan were in need of correction. This was especially true of the proposals for food exports. Crop prospects for Europe are exceptionally bright. There is a world surplus of sugar, which promises a further considerable saving. Prospective improvements in coal-mining further brighten the prospect.

Other reductions made by the House may have less justification. No doubt, the Senate will more carefully explore the whole situation now that it comes down to more exact and fewer details.

In any event, it is clear that the House reductions were purposely made large as a basis of bargaining with the Senate. That is the oldest of legislative games.

After the excitement dies down, we can be assured that Europe will be materially helped. The huge enterprise will finally get under way and, if more money is needed, it no doubt will be provided after the November election has quieted the voice of politics.

It might be well if our official family, together with other responsible American spokesmen, would do more to quiet European fears. As it is, they are broadcasting to the world the distorted opinion that our Congress is turning isolationist. Nothing could be more harmful or more erroneous. We are witnessing a bit of congressional politics mixed with a desire to help in some measure a serious budgetary situation.

Truman Speaks Plainly

By THOMAS L. STOKES

ABOARD President Truman's Special Train—To speak figuratively, the only equipment Harry Truman lacks on this trip over the country is a rope and a wad of gum.

Which is going back for a comparison to the late Will Rogers, the cowboy humorist. It is not, of course, entirely apt. But there is something of a reminder in the President's use of homely references that the people who hear him can catch instantly, his occasional sallies in a casual, off-hand manner, his use of the plain language of the street and the farm.

He does it always with restraint. It is done, too, without the use of props except rarely, as at Pocatello, Idaho, where he was, telling about all the reports a president has to read. He referred to one by the interior department on the Columbia Basin project.

"It is really a sample of the reports the President is supposed to read and study all the time," he said. "You know—I fool them—I get up early in the morning and I read them."

He reached back to an attendant who handed him a book as big as a Sears-Robuck catalogue, which he held up before an early crowd gather about the back platform.

"Look at that," he said, grinning. "That is only a sample."

He refers often, as here, to the fact that he is early riser which gives him a kinship with the people in the farm and cattle country. He gets up at 5:30 regularly, and maintains the schedule on this trip except that a couple of mornings he slept 15 minutes over-time.

A crowd assembled late at night at Rawlins, Wyoming—their faces sharply outlined in the lights from the back platform—knew what he meant when he referred to a hat presented him at Cheyenne as "a fifty-dollar hat." The expression, beyond being appropriate for his audience—like the ten-cent "seeger" which is the quintessence of elegance among southern farm Negroes—also reflected his own experience and his own familiarity with the haberdashery business.

Speaks Their Language.

INCIDENTALLY, he spoke of that at another place. Referring to the depression after the First World War and what it did to lots of people, he remarked with a smile that he was in business then.

"And you know what happened to me," he concluded. "The crowd at Rawlins also knew very well what the President meant when he described the coming election campaign as 'a brawl,' for it has its special application to Saturday-night disturbances in small towns on the western plains which are much less civilized than similar affairs in big eastern saloons, which are handled by the bouncer with promptness and dispatch."

He constantly identifies himself with the western country by talking about his native state of Missouri and its people and its customs.

In his informal speeches from the back platform the President alternates between the folksy manner and the forthright attack he levels continually at Congress. And quite frequently he reveals his inner resentment over criticism he gets.

Though he never mentions it specifically, it seems clear from what he said that what rankles most is the criticism about his association with the Pendergast machine in Kansas City, upon which Republicans harp so often and so insistently. To one back platform crowd, he said:

"I am coming out here so you can look at me and hear what I say and then make up your minds as to whether you believe some of the things that have been said about your President."

"I have been in politics a long time and it makes no difference what they say about you. If it isn't so. If they can prove it on you, you are in a bad fix indeed. They have never been able to prove it on me."

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Southern Solons Still Pro-Eisenhower

WASHINGTON—Contact with the Eisenhower inner group has been maintained by southern senators through Maj. Gen. Floyd Parks, retiring press relations chief for the Army. . . . Most active pro-Eisenhower senators are Maybank and Johnston of South Carolina, Robertson of Virginia, Sparkman and Hill of Alabama, and Pepper of Florida. Johnston's secretary, Jim Lever, used to be an Army crony of General Parks. . . . Senator Kilgore of West Virginia has thrown his weight behind Senator Brewster's bill to give ex-presidents the salary privileges of a senator for life, thinks it might help the "Truman situation."

Women are watching what Republicans do to two of their sex, recently appointed to outstanding government jobs. To date, they aren't happy.

Miss Freida Henlock, expert New York lawyer, was appointed by Truman to the Federal Communications Commission—first time in history a woman has sat on this important commission.

By DREW PEARSON

Truman also reappointed Judge Marion Harrow of San Francisco to the U. S. tax court, after she had served one term with distinction. . . . But the Republicans are now blocking both ladies. . . . FDR not only appointed the first woman to the cabinet in American history, but recognized women's abilities by appointing two lady diplomats (Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen and Mrs. J. Borden Harriman); the director of the mint (Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross); and assistant treasurer of the United States (Mrs. Marion G. Banister) plus many others. . . . Women's organizations are already getting irked at the Republican blocking of Miss Henlock and Judge Harrow.

Some Absentees.

TRUMAN TRIP—Significant aspect of the Truman tour is the absence of labor leaders at station stops. Organized labor has been the backbone of the Democratic party, but now they're missing. . . . While the President of the United States was playing to 2,000 people plus 8,000 empty seats at the Ak-sar ben auditorium in Omaha, the Omaha baseball club licked Des Moines before 5,000 people. Earlier in the day the Ak-sar ben track drew about 9,000. . . . When the Friendship Train made its first stop at Bakersfield, California, at 7 a. m. more than 1,500 people turned out. When Truman showed up at Pittsburgh, Pa., on the first morning of his tour, a scant 200 were on hand. . . . Norman Armour, one of the best career diplomats, is quitting as assistant secretary of state. Official reason: fatigue and health. Actual reason: he was seldom consulted, and when he was, his advice wasn't taken.

Idea Approved.

MOSCOW radio propagandists who have been telling the Russian people that the USA is a nation of warmongers would be interested in public response to this column's idea of a Friendship Train to the children of Russia.

Reason behind the idea is that the only way to prevent war with Russia is to win over the Russian people. Here is a cross section of the letters and telegrams: Sara Lowrey, Waco, Texas—"Your suggestion of a Friendship Train for the Russian children seems to me a hopeful sign for peace. I am a teacher. I do not have much money, but I gave $75 to your first Friendship Train and I wish to give the same to the Friendship Train for the Russian children." (She enclosed a check). . . . G. T. Mowrer, San Diego, Cal.—"Regarding your letter to Stalin, suggest you request your readers to write him, as believe avalanche of letters would be influential." Tass newsmen—"Pearson's idea was conceived in Wall Street." . . . Rev. Maurice R. Gortner, Lansdowne, Pa.—"To some people, your suggestion may seem too idealistic but to others who know the power of the spiritual, your plan reveals a mark of real statesmanship. If Mr. Stalin will receive your letter in the spirit in which you have written, and if he together with our leaders will permit your program for friendship to become a reality it may well be a determining factor in building the road to peace." . . . P. S.—Tragedy is that not many people in Russia have any idea that the vast majority of Americans are friendly, peaceful people, and I'll bet a dollar to a doughnut the state department's Voice of America hasn't bothered to broadcast the idea of a Russian Friendship Train to the Russian people.

"KISSING JIM" will not be a delegate to the national Democratic convention. . . . This will relieve a television crew for active duty elsewhere.

Alabama Democrats decided that a delegate who is apt to remove his shoes and socks while electioneering was not the man to send to Philadelphia where there is the possibility of also losing a shirt.

Meanwhile Sen. McGrath joins the Democratic Authors' League with a book suggesting that everyone vote in the next election . . . preferably the right way.

The senator's thesis is that if enough persons vote, the right man gets in office. . . . Smaller groups have a tendency to pick Republicans.

Anyway civil rights are on the upgrade again. . . . The Supreme Court has ruled that anyone can hire a loudspeaker and jaw at the populace without a local permit. . . . The market for ear muffs has taken a sharp upturn.

Washington Calling

Democracy's Weak Spot

By MARQUIS CHILDS

TRADITIONALLY, the windup of Congress has become a kind of witches' Sabbath. Anything can happen, and it usually does, in the last minute rush for an adjournment deadline.

This time the legislative jam promises to be more chaotic than ever. It is not a happy example of the American democratic process to put up in the show window which Washington is today. In sober truth it must be said that it is a shocking illustration of failure.

Conscientious Republicans are deeply disturbed and not merely for the reputation of their party. They talk seriously about the breakdown of representative government and the effect on the country of a peacetime confusion in Washington in a time of world crisis.

A farm bill was reported out unanimously after careful study by the Senate agriculture committee. It is a far-reaching measure providing for a flexible system of price support with a revised parity formula and reorganization of the soil conservation system.

This important bill is now caught in the legislative jam along with housing, the draft bill, aid to education, atomic energy, displaced persons, the reciprocal trade treaties and a number of other vital issues including appropriations for government departments.

Certain of these measures may get through at the last minute. But there is always the danger that hampering or nullifying amendments will be attached and no one could argue that the catch-as-catch-can method is a good way to pass major legislation.

Demoralized Democrats.

ON THEIR side of the aisle, the Democrats are demoralized, their ranks shot through with defeatism and pessimism. They are so little aware of responsibility that they were not on hand in sufficient numbers to force a roll-call vote when the Taber faction in the House succeeded in chopping two billion dollars out of the foreign relief program.

President Truman in his political campaign tour is making foolish gibes about "riding" Congress with a pair of spurs that someone presented to him. One reason for the sad ending of the 80th Congress is that President Truman failed to work with the leaders of his party in the Senate and House.

Weeks and months would go by when he did not see them. Often they learned of impending decisions from the Republicans. Indifference to the President and his fate in some instances became almost hostility.

Among the divided and disorganized Democrats are many who are keenly aware of Republican sins and omission and commission. These sins, both on the negative and the positive side, are so glaring that a minimum of political shrewdness would be necessary to exploit them. But only rarely does the opposition in Congress avail itself of their innumerable possibilities.

This condition is calculated to give the people of the country all the bad breaks. It is made to order for those who have their own private axes to grind. The sound of the grinding has been loud all through this confused session.

It is shiller now as the special interests press in in hopes of a last-minute kill. Thus the grazing interests in the West have tossed in a bill that would open the public lands to disastrous exploitation by greatly increased herds.

In many ways the most serious sign of irresponsibility and demoralization is the action of the House in slashing the foreign relief appropriation.

This act made it clear that the leaders of the House—Speaker Joseph W. Martin, majority leader Charles A. Halleck, Representative Clarence J. Brown of Ohio—have not really accepted the necessity for American responsibility and American leadership in a world threatened with a communist "wave of the future."

What this does, from the immediate and practical point of view, is to add one more explosive element to the perilous log jam that somehow will be broken before June 19. In the breaking of that jam a great deal can be lost.

Farmer's Diary

The Strange Halcyon

By CALVIN A. BYERS

I SUPPOSE one of the strangest creatures that lives along Honey Creek is the belted kingfisher. I had just rolled under the barbed wire fence into the pasture, when I saw him perched on a barkless branch above a shallow inlet, motionless. But not for long.

Stretched out on a thatch of driftwood lodged in a willow crotch, was a looped, thick-bodied water snake. His mottled skin and complacent pose made him seem much at ease in the sunshine. The bird flew down, dashing water in all directions, seeming to reconnoiter—then back to his favorite branch and turned about for attack.

This time he charged, full force, right at the curving, pointed head of the snake and thrust a sturdy beak into its body. The reptile's dark head, mouth open and tongue darting, coiled about the disheveled crest of the valiant bird. I heard him rattle, defiantly. Then with both feet on a solid perch he pecked a round hole through the scaly quivering body. Finally he seemed to make a mighty effort and the snake went overboard into the water. Mortally hurt, it made a greater splash than would have happened from sudden diving.

The brave kingfisher gave another challenging cry, and went back to his perch on the dead limb. A few more birds like that and the swamp would be free of snakes, I thought.

The common water snake destroys and feeds ravenously upon frogs, and little fish. Perhaps he is a rival of the kingfisher for aquatic food, thus a natural enemy.

This kingfisher's nest is a burrow into the bank, where undigested fish bones and scales are deposited in regurgitated pellets about the entrance.

Frequently I have seen him flounce down into the stream and come up with a minnow, which he strikes against the dead branch until it stops quivering—then with a quick flip into the air catches it head first and gulps it down.

Timely Editorial

Population Trends Change.

The nation's population graph isn't following the course predicted for it. The May bulletin of the population reference bureau shows that in the early 1930's the economists had predicted the population would be declining by the middle of the century.

In 1934, Dr. O. E. Baker, the agriculture department's senior economist, predicted that by 1948 the population would be 132,000,000. Actually it is around 144,000,000. He predicted that it would fall to 98,000,000 by 1990. That may yet come to pass, but since the war the birth rate has continued to increase.

Predictions of the 1930's were based on the fact the percentage of population growth had been declining since 1900. Nobody knows why the trend has reversed itself. Sociologists decry the decline of the family. The price of food and the availability of housing certainly don't encourage the rearing of families. Yet the population continues to rise.—Marion Star.

As Cerf Tells It

A stout lady came home from the last booksellers' convention and reported, "No, I didn't enjoy myself a bit, but I certainly prevented my husband from having any fun."

Friendship of U. S., Britain Favored

Now that the new British ambassador, Sir Oliver Franks, has had a chance to unpack his bags and shake hands, there is a revival of confidence that British-American relations, which have been going from bad to worse, can be repaired.

Nothing in the whole field of international relations is so important. Unless it can be done, nothing else that the two governments have promised to do for freedom recovery and peace, can be done.

The United Nations will collapse, and if it does, then almost certainly the American people in their disillusionment will for a long time to come be in no mood for international collaboration.

The European Recovery Program will fail and will be abandoned. Europe will become hopelessly disunited. And anarchy will spread from the Middle East into Africa and Asia.

Working in partnership there is a chance that things can be put in order; with the English-speaking nations separated and opposed, there is no chance.

It is the fashion to say that British-American relations have been disrupted by the disputes over Palestine. To any one who has had long and intimate knowledge of British-American affairs, and has observed closely the course of events before, during, and since the war, that will seem a most superficial explanation.

For the degrading quarrel about Palestine is not the cause but it is the ugly consequence of a breakdown of intercourse and communication between the two governments and the two nations.

This breakdown began with the death of Roosevelt and the defeat of Churchill. It was accelerated by the departure from Washington of Lord Halifax, and indeed of almost all the men, including the key figures among the Americans, who had made the wartime partnership work.

CAN'T GET TOGETHER

Mr. Bevin and Mr. Marshall have been quite incapable of dealing with each other except at arm's length, quite incapable of becoming articulate on the great questions which have to do with the sudden rise of America to world power, and the no less sudden but epoch-making change in the condition of the Commonwealth and the position of the Empire.

Neither the heads of the governments nor their foreign ministers have had genuine and intimate consultation, and there has been lacking almost altogether the informal but nevertheless influential intercourse among officials, editors, journalists, and leaders of opinion which, beginning when Lord Lothian was ambassador, did so much to create the partnership.

In the past year this intercourse has been reduced to a kind of press agency. But the two countries have long since outgrown that sort of thing, that is to say the mimeographed handout, the official formula, the polite brush-off, the ex-cruciatingly funny anecdote, and "won't you have a drink?"

If there is misunderstanding now about Palestine, about the Brussels pact, about the ERP, about the sterling area, about commercial policy, about the United Nations, about the reorganization of Europe, it is because the channels of understanding have been badly clogged.

They will have to be reopened.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Who is this Man?

Now and then, in the pages of the Clarion, I run a biographical quiz, under the heading of "Who Is This Man?" For instance...

"He was one of the earliest lovers in American history..."

"And yet he was too shy to court a woman outright..."

"He came to the New World on the Mayflower..."

"A cooper to repair the beer barrels accompanying the Pilgrims..."

"Who is this man?"

I thought that everybody was stumped. But not Ma Hoskins, who returned the clipping to me with "John Alden" on it. She recognized all the clues—including that reference to "beer" and "cooper."

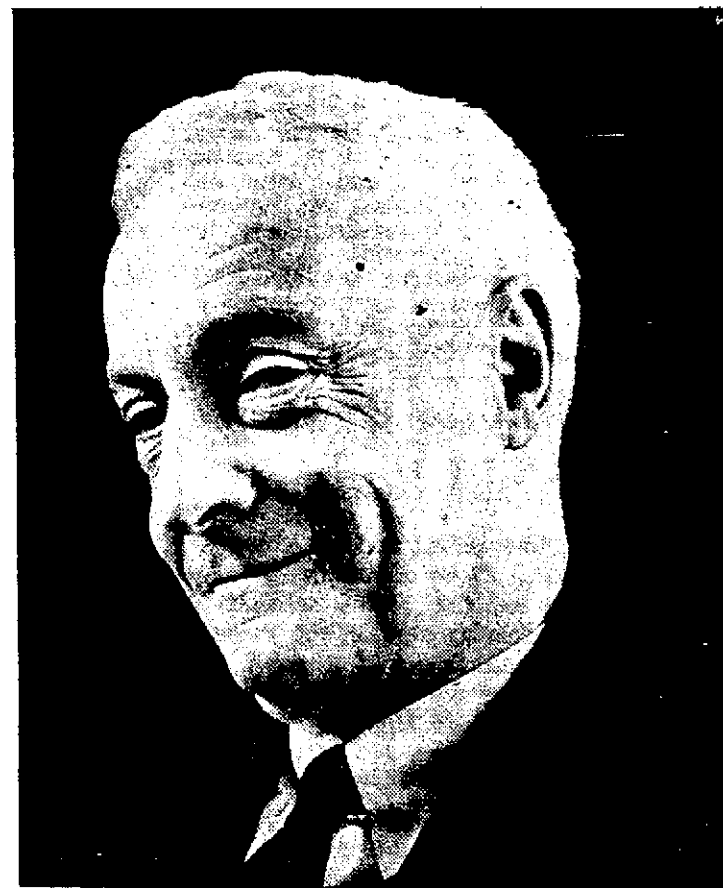

For Ma—who's read her history, knows that beer as the beverage of moderation, is as old in this land of ours as the never-ending American search for tolerance which brought the Pilgrims over to this country in the first place.

Columbus Lady Loses 24 Lbs. and 8 Inches at Waistline

"I am 29 years of age," writes Mrs. G. R. Thomas, 331 E. Long St., Columbus, Ohio, "and before taking Rennel Concentrate was entirely too fat for my age. I have lost 24 lbs. with this wonderful reducer and my waistline went from 34 to 26. Everyone that knew me when I was heavy can't get over how I look now. I feel that Rennel has made a 100% improvement."

Hundreds of others have obtained similar relief from the social and physical discomfort of being overweight. Rennel is the original grapefruit juice recipe for taking off ugly fat. It's simple. Just go to your drug and ask for 4 ounces of liquid Rennel. Pour the contents into a pint bottle—add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves—if you reduce pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles; just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while taking Rennel—no starvation diet—no printed diet list to buy—no vitamins to fortify you against weakness while going hungry, for you WON'T be hungry. Don't be switched to another product. Insist on and obtain genuine Rennel.

Mansfield Tops 4th District In Financial Activity Gain

Mansfield is one of Ohio's fastest growing cities financially as well as in population. Fourth Federal Reserve bank figures showed today.

Money withdrawn from commercial accounts in Mansfield for payment of wages and purchase of goods increased by 20.5 per cent during the three-month period ended May 30, as compared with the same period last year, the report shows.

During the month of May alone, the amount withdrawn from Mansfield financial institution banks totaled $126,071,000, a record high for the month.

The three month increase is not only a greater percentage gain than in any other Ohio community, but it is greater than in 10 Pennsylvania, Kentucky and West Virginia communities, including Pittsburgh, Erie and Wheeling.

While the Mansfield percentage increase was 20.5, the average increase for the 31 cities in the Fourth Federal Reserve district was 12.2 per cent.

Sales tax collections in Mansfield during the week ended May 29 totaled $37,390 as compared with $23,083 during the same week last year, a report from the state treasurer showed.

Collections so far this year amount to $625,452, as compared with $514,576 for a similar period last year.

The new name for the store will be Charm Fashions. The business will continue under the ownership of I. J. Schwartz of New York, N. Y. Mrs. Faye Tropp, Mansfield, manager, announced today.

"Knight's and Charm Fashions stores belong to the same nationwide chain of stores which have gone under two names for several years," Mrs. Tropp explained. Wallace Dropped Espionage Hints After Deciding to Ditch Roerich

NEW YORK—After Henry Wallace decided to unload his mystical guru, Nicholas Roerich, he caused a "press release" to be issued from the department of agriculture, accompanied by offhand insinuations, that Roerich had been suspected of espionage during his nominal quest of grass seed and buckwheat in Asia. Wallace sent Roerich over on a botanical mission, but the old medicine man plunged into politics and showmanship. He soon got himself suspected of pro-Russian activity by the Japs and of anti-Russian scheming by the Soviet government.

Bubblehead Wallace may have been in on the political play and again he may not. If not, his innocence need not be attributed to purity of spirit.

He has shown himself to be a conniving double-crosser, a conspirator and a sneak in the record of this idiotic incident of the guru. And, just a few days ago, Harold Ickes, his old colleague in the cabinet, wrote that "Henry Wallace is so consumed with political ambition that there isn't anything that he won't do to advance himself."

Ickes was relating an attempt by Wallace to line up Harry Hopkins and other high-ranking New Deal parasites to persuade old Roosevelt to fire Ickes. This was two years before Roosevelt made Wallace vice-president, so we see that Roosevelt knew the quality of the man he was placing in line for the presidency.

By reading their own nasty tattle about one another, we come by an inside appraisal of the whole hateful host.

All right, so Wallace got scared when Roerich kicked up a mess in the Orient and, up in New York, Louis Horch, the great sucker of the Roerich cult, decided that Roerich wasn't God Almighty after all.

Horch prepared to reclaim title to the 26-story joss-house on the drive and recoup the fortune he had squandered. It would assist his purpose if Roerich were banished from the country.

The Roosevelt Treasury department, by a psychic coincidence, took after the old guru on criminal charges of income tax evasion. Thus, Horch, who was Wallace's pal, would be enabled to grab the lamassary back without serious interference by an opposing party in the litigation who was, to all intents and purposes, exiled.

Wallace had his own reason for keeping Roerich out of the country.

Big City Busy At Witching Hour; Romance Is Different Nowadays

BROADWAY AT MIDNIGHT—Faces About Town: Margaret Truman, unrecognized, waiting for a keb (just like you or a columnist) near Radio City Music Hall. . . . The W. Rockefeller ringsiding at the Stork and L'Directwah

. . . Playwright F. Hugh Herbert nervously twisting his fingers the night his daughter Diana replaced June Lockhart in his play, "For Love or Money." . . . Brunette, blonde and carrot-top, arm-in-arming it down 6th Avenue: F. Tone, M. Dietrich and B. Meredith. . . . Tony Martin's new bride, Cyd Charisse, whose real name is Tula Ellice Finklea. . . . Natalie Windsor, Schenectady's gift to the Drammah on the Summer Circuit. . . . Newcomer paragon, the Boardmans, of the Tribi, who moved from Greenwich Village to a swank lower 5th Avenue apt, where the doorman look down their noses at them "for carrying their own bundles and packages."

. . . Gypsy Rose Lee, who has a very fine Striptutation, stealing the show at Firsides Inn with her baby-stare manners.

Sallies in Our Alley: At the Riviera last night a group backstage were discussing the good old days when "romance really meant something." One chorine said, "Why, my mother can still remember dad's first kiss!" . . . "Times sure have changed," heckled one of the Vagabonds. "One of our show gals can't even remember her first husband!" . . . Ed Begley, who is slightly publicity-made, met a columnist on Broadway. "Well," he said, "nice to have seen you. Give my regards to all your readers."

Midtown Vignette: It happened in a downtown barber shop the

"Didn't I meet you once in Alcatraz?" he sternly asked the bootblack. . . . "You never seen me no place!" was the near-hysterical retort. "And the only time I ever seen you was in the newsreels!"

Memos of a Midnighter: Laura Parker, the 7-Up heiress (she's also ass't ed of Mademoiselle, the mag), married Alphonse Bach, wealthy engineer-designer, last week. Three local swains are in mourning. . . . Lois Pemerton, author of the new tome, "The Stork Didn't Bring You," and Wall Streeter F. Curtis have that familiar gooty stare. . . . The maestro Garwood Vans hope it's a himage. . . . The Hartmans are burning. They hear Lew Parker has "borrowed" their best "Angel in the Wings" gags for his London revue, "Maid to Measure." . . . A London paper, which was being read in the Cub Room the same day it was published, inspired an editor to observe: "Even the dull-est of the columnists in New York has more news in one col'm than this entire 4-page newspaper!" . . . City Street Jobs Given Green Light

Financial Shifts Bring $1,040 Saving

City council last night amended two pieces of legislation that give the green light to awarding of contracts for the paving of four city streets.

By re-appropriating money from two street projects on which the bid was lower than the engineer's estimate, and using that money for two streets on which the bids exceeded the estimate, the city will save $1,040 on the total estimate for the four streets.

The streets involved are Wood street from Glessner to Cline avenue; Poplar street from Ohio street to Sloane avenue, Overlook road from Crescent to Davis road, and Fairlawn avenue from the end of the existing pavement to Millsboro road.

The Mansfield Asphalt Paving company was the only firm to offer to do the paving on the four paving jobs. Bids were opened this week.

SEWER JOB OK'D

Council also passed a measure granting Ivon Bauer and John Bell permission to build a sewer on Bowland road from Sturges avenue to lot 7972.

Other measures voted last night: Appropriated $1,800 for the purchase of 4,000 feet of copper tubing for the water department.

Appropriated $100 for purchase of three-tenths of an acre from Leona McGregor, to be used for the Clear Fork water-works project.

Appropriated $2,500 for settlement of claim of Russell Gimbel for damages to his farm during airport construction.

Bookmobile On Display

The new custom-built bookmobile, purchased by the Mansfield Public library, will be on display at the library all day Saturday, starting at 9 a. m. Miss Lois MacKellar, librarian, announced today.

"We'll keep it parked in front of the library so that everyone may see it who wishes. We're hoping that a lot of Mansfielders will be interested enough to look it over," Miss MacKellar said today.

The new truck was purchased at a cost of $8,500. The body was built by the Gerstengrader Body company of Wooster. The shelving and cabinet work was done by Ernest Hoar of Johnsville.

The new truck will have a capacity of between 1,500 and 2,000 books. All shelving will be inside, so that it will be almost like a small branch library.

The bookmobile will be under the supervision of Mrs. Lois Pennell, county librarian.

Truce Brings Uneasy Peace In Palestine

(Compiled From Wire Services)

Uneasy peace came to Palestine today to the accompaniment of wailing air raid sirens in Tel Aviv and gun bursts in Jerusalem.

The four-week armistice and arms embargo became effective at 1 a. m. (EST). During the truce, Count Folke Bernadotte, U.N. mediator, will seek to resolve the great issue of partition.

The Jews said the cease fires generally was observed several hours before the deadline. They announced a last minute bombing of Damascus. The Syrians said nine bombs, mostly incendiary, were dropped, causing no casualties and little damage.

The heaviest last minute fighting was around Latrun, where the Arabs block the main Tel Aviv-Jerusalem supply road. The Israelis claimed "important successes" there.

The Arab legion of Trans-Jordan said the Jews broke the truce in Jerusalem within an hour, killing an Arab soldier. Random shooting echoed in the Holy City for six minutes after the armistice hour. Jewish mortars drummed the Arabs there for 70 minutes before the truce. A Jerusalem dispatch said a Christian church and Arab hospital were damaged. An hour and a half after the armistice was effective, sirens started an eerie wail in much-bombed Tel Aviv. There was no report of Arab planes sighted. Two warships appeared in Tel Aviv waters, probably U.N. truce patrols.

Great Britain announced she would not recognize Israel during the truce. A spokesman said such recognition would be "a positive act of intervention" favoring one side.

Two hours after the deadline for the truce, Israeli army reports indicated that Arab forces at some points were waging unabated warfare against the Jews, a war communiqué said. Jewish sources in Haifa reported that the Arabs launched an attack against the Sejerah settlement near Afala 30 minutes after the hour for peace. They said the Sejerah attack and several others still were being pressed.

"The exhibit will be set up at Central park to better acquaint Mansfielders with the equipment and activities of the National Guard," Capt. Boughton said.

"The weapons are only a part of the training program conducted at the Armory Tuesday nights which includes map reading, intelligence, military courtesy, communications and several other instructional classes," he said.

The exhibit will be shown primarily to acquaint Mansfielders with the activities of the National Guard and to recruit several more men into the regiment between now and Aug. 15. Then the National Guard unit will go to Camp Atterbury, Ind., for two weeks of training. During these two weeks in camp the men will receive regular Army pay including longevity and any other allowance they are entitled to.

OSR Inmate Bound Over

Youth Pleads Guilty To Car Theft Charge

Robert R. Phillips, 20, the Mansfield reformatory escaper who stole a Mansfielder's car Tuesday night from the airport, was bound over to the grand jury today under $1,500 bond when he pleaded guilty to operating a car without the owner's consent.

The verdict was handed down by Judge H. H. Schettler in municipal court. Phillips was apprehended in his home city of Tiffin Wednesday afternoon. The car, belonging to Mrs. Edith Hughes, 198 North Mulberry street, was in his possession.

Phillips is being held in county jail.

Continued to Monday for hearing was the assault and battery charge against Rufus Shenbergberger of Lucas, R. D. 1.

Other municipal court decisions today included:

Herbert DeWeese, 413 Bowman street, $25 and costs; guilty of being a suspicious person. DeWeese was just released from the county jail after serving a sentence for larceny.

James C. Anderson, 231 North Adams street, 30 days in the county jail and assessed costs of the hearing when found guilty of threatening in a menacing manner. The jail sentence was suspended on good behavior.

Bess Elizabeth Gordon of Columbus, arrested for speeding last night when she was clocked at 70 miles per hour, forfeited $25 appearance bond.

Bike Accident Kills Girl, 13

BUCYRUS — A pleasure ride on a motor bike ended last night with the death of Carol Keesey, 13, of Greenville and serious injuries to William Hawk, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Hawk of Bucyrus, after the vehicle collided with two automobiles, according to Bucyrus police.

Hawk had borrowed the bike from Norman Phenecic. The girl was visiting her grandmother here.

The girl died on the operating table an hour after the accident. She had suffered internal injuries, a compound fracture of the right knee and a fracture of the left hand. Hawk suffered a fractured left thigh and multiple abrasions. His condition is reported as fairly good.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

A quiet celebration will be held at the home of Funeral Director John H. Finerock, 766 Park avenue west, tonight when the immediate members of his family will congratulate him on his birthday anniversary.

Finerock is chairman of the Richland County Child Welfare board, serving in the office for the past 15 years. He also is a past chapter chairman of the Mansfield chapter of the American Red Cross.

He came to Mansfield from Canton in 1914 and has been head of the Finerock funeral home for many years. He is past president of the Ohio Funeral Directors' association. An active member of the Mansfield Kiwanis club, St. Luke's Lutheran church and the Westbrook Country club, he also is a 32nd degree Mason and past head of several Masonic lodges. He is president of the Scattergood fund.

BUSY FELLOW—

City Solicitor, C. J. Kalbfleisch, is a busy Mansfielder this weekend. Kalbfleisch is now in Toledo attending a convention of the United Commercial Travelers Association of which he is a delegate. Tomorrow he will go to Cincinnati where the state convention of the Amvets and the state convention of the War Veterans Republican club will begin in the afternoon.

NEEDS BUSINESS LESSON—

The characters herein must remain anonymous, since the story was overheard by an eavesdropping news reporter in a downtown Mansfield store. Doing the talking was the mother of a Mansfield youngster. It went like this:

"I don't know what that boy of mine will spring on me next. Yesterday, I finally insisted that he clean out and dispose of the enormous collection of comic books and magazines which he has had cluttering up the house all winter. I ordered him to gather them up and give them to some other youngster who might like to read them. He had read and re-read them until he must have known them by heart."

"He finally gathered them all up and took them to the boy across the street. A little later he came in and wanted permission to take a nickel out of his bank. I wanted to know what he wanted to spend the money for, and what do you think he said?"

"The youngster across the street had put up a stand to sell the comic books my son had given him at two-for-a-nickel, and that son of mine wanted to buy two of them back!"

(Maybe that's one of the reasons why some of us go through life working for others, while others own and operate businesses of their own.)

Chatter . . .

Mansfield's lawns and roadsides colorful with peonies and roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mather of Richmond scheduled to leave Mansfield tonight for New York to spend a week end at the Waldorf as the guests of the Stanley Home Products company of Mansfield. Mrs. Mather was the winner in a sales contest conducted by the company. Mrs. Duane Hall, Mt. Gilead, and her husband will go to Cleveland next week end as guests of the same firm.

Kiwanis Club Gets First-Hand Story of Nazi War Trials

Members of the Mansfield Kiwanis club yesterday heard the story of the Nazi war criminal trials from a man who was there and knew some of the Hitler party bigwigs.

The speaker was Ellis Vanderpyle of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating company, former chief of the interrogation sections charged with questioning high-ranking Nazis. He spoke at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

He told of a conversation with Herman Goering, named to succeed Hitler as party leader.

"Goering asked to speak to me when he heard I was returning to America," Vanderpyle related during a dramatic talk. "He pointed out how in 1940 only 78,000 German troops had been able to conquer in short order more than five and a half million Frenchmen. This had been done because the communists had undermined France from within."

"You may be going back to America to face the same thing," Goering said to Vanderpyle. "Perhaps there may be a trial like these at Nuremberg (the tribunal which tried the high ranking Nazis) in Chicago conducted by communists."

Vanderpyle painted a character portrait of each of the outstanding men of the Nazi hierarchy. He seemed to find the vain, egocentric Herman Goering most interesting.

"Goering weighed 280 pounds but stood only five feet four inches tall. He looked like a tent with a head sticking out of it, when he wore his long coat," Vanderpyle said.

"Among Goering's loot were 132 uniforms and eight million dollars in various good currencies," and many valuable art treasures."

Vanderpyle said he was "convinced of the death of Adolph Hitler after having made an investigation of the facts together with a British intelligence officer, Trevor-Roper who has since written a book 'The Last Days of Hitler.'"

"The whole Nazi crew," Vanderpyle said, "seemed to have been men of high intelligence with a quirk to them that made them operate as a bunch of gangsters."

Tony Zale Regains Middleweight Crown

KO's Rocky In 3rd Heat Of Brawl

By JACK CUDDY
NEWARK, N. J.—(UP)—Tony Zale, an ancient but explosive ex-mariner, was slated today to defend in September the world middleweight championship he recaptured from Rocky Graziano last night in one of the ring's most glorious upsets.

Zale, 34, was a 14-5 underdog when he faced younger Graziano before 21,497 fans in Ruppert stadium; but at 1:08 of the third round he knocked out the Brooklyn brawler who had wrestled the crown from him last July at Chicago.

Rocky, the ring's stormy petrel, was on the canvas for the third time when Referee Paul Cavalier counted him out. He was stretched flat on his back, with arms outflung.

SLIGHT CONCUSSION
His head had hit the floor so hard that some witnesses feared he might have suffered a brain injury. In the dressing room, Dr. Vincent Nardiello, Rocky's friend from the New York boxing commission staff, said the ex-champ's actions indicated a slight concussion.

At his Brooklyn home today, Rocky vigorously denied the concussion reports. He said, "There's nothin' wrong with me that a good steak won't cure." He added he would continue fighting after a brief vacation.

Promoter Andy Niederreiter said he believed either Marcel Cerdan, French middleweight, or Ray (Sugar) Robinson, welterweight champion, would be the challenger.

Promoter Niederreiter was delighted with the gross gate of $336,646 attracted by the first venture of his new organization, the Tournament of Champions, Inc.

Rocky received a guarantee of $120,000 and Zale $60,000.

PREDICTS END
Zale, who had predicted a third-round knockout, came out to fulfill his prediction. A long left jab suddenly jolted Rocky back onto his heels. Then Zale was after him, with combinations to body and head. Twice he drove Rocky nearly to his haunches against the ropes near a neutral corner. Rocky didn't go down.

Then Tony staggered him twice with rights to the head, and suddenly exploded on his chin a left hook that sent Rocky careening sideways to the canvas, where he lay face down until the count of seven.

When Rocky rose, Zale swarmed over him until the final left hook smashed him backwards to the canvas, where he lay stretched on his back.

Baptist Softballers Lead Church Loop With 3 Wins

Park Avenue Baptist stood atop the Church softball league standings after whipping previously undefeated St. Matthew's, 9-6, yesterday evening, for its third straight victory.

The list of unbeaten teams was pared to two as First Congregational, also undefeated in two starts, fell before Four Square Gospel, 6 to 5.

First Lutheran held onto its unblemished record and took over second place at the same time by a convincing 19-3 triumph over cellar-dwelling United Brethren.

The best game of the day, however, did not involve any change at the top of the standings. St. Luke's won its first game, 5-4, over First Methodist as Frisbee homered in the bottom half of the eleventh inning. He had a perfect night at bat with "3 for 3."

Boston Braves Beat Cards Again, 10-2; Philadelphia Wins Over Detroit, 10-4

By RALPH RODEN
AP Sports Writer

Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn once again are being called the Mr. Right and Mr. Left of the Boston Braves' pitching staff.

Sain and Spahn each won 21 games for the Braves in 1947 and the National league pennant hopes of the Braves hinge on their duplicating that feat this year.

Both, however, got off to poor starts. Each won only one game, out of his first three contests.

Sain, the righthander, pitched the Braves into second place last night by beating the St. Louis Cardinals, 10-2, in a night game at St. Louis.

FIFTH STRAIGHT

It was the Braves' fifth straight victory and second in a row over the Cardinals. Spahn, the lefthander, stopped the Red Birds, 11-5, Wednesday night for his fifth win and fourth in his last six starts. He was knocked out once during this skein but wasn't charged with the loss.

The Braves are only a half game behind the first place New York Giants and two percentage points ahead of the Cards and Pittsburgh Pirates who are tied for third place.

The Giants were beaten, 6-4, by the last place Cubs in a day game at Chicago while the Pirates turned back the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4-1, in a night contest at Pittsburgh.

The American league's front-running Cleveland Indians took a 15-7 pounding from the Red Sox in a day game at Boston. The loss ended a five-game Cleveland winning streak and cut their margin to three games over the New York Yankees and Philadelphia Athletics.

The Athletics also enjoyed a big inning in trouncing the Detroit Tigers, 10-4. Philadelphia pushed seven runners home in the fourth inning.

Philadelphia now trails the second place Yanks by four percentage points. The Yanks' scheduled game with the Chicago White Sox in New York was postponed because of rain.

The Washington Senators triumphed 5-4 over St. Louis Browns in a night game at Washington when Frank Biscan walked Mark Christman with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth to force in the deciding run.

The Cincinnati Reds and the Philadelphia Phillies were idle.

Ohio's Leading Thinclads Race In AAU Track, Field

DAYTON—(INS)—Ohio Olympic hopefuls will be in the spotlight tomorrow as a star-studded field competes at Dayton in the Ohio AAU track and field meet.

Most glamorous name on the entry list is that of Harrison Dillard, the world's fastest hurdler. Dillard will seek to run his string of consecutive victories to 79 as he competes in the 100-yard dash and both hurdles.

Spectators also will watch closely the performance of Gene Cole, the 17-year-old Lancaster youth, who was a triple winner in the state high school meet and set a national scholastic 440-yard record of 48 seconds.

Cole's chief competition in the 440 probably will come from Gunther Katzman, teammate of Dillard at Baldwin-Wallace, who won the event in the Ohio college meet a week ago.

Ohio State's track team, indoor and outdoor Western conference king, also will be on hand and should make a strong bid for team honors.

The only Buck missing the meet will be conference 440 champ Mal Whitfield, who will be competing with Lockbourne air base in the eastern air force meet at Columbus.

Features Program

AKRON—(UPI)—The second running of the $2,500 Ascot special handicap at a distance of 1-1/16 mile will feature the program at Ascot park near here tomorrow.

Meeder Sets Pace For Senior Golfers

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Glenn Meeder of Columbus today paced a field of 150 golfers 50 years of age and older into the second half of the Ohio seniors' tournament at the Scioto Country club here.

Meeder shot a 74 in the first 18 holes yesterday to take an early lead. Allen Rankin, the defending champion, tied for second with R. T. Garretson of Ashland with a 75.

BUCYRUS — To raise funds for the American Legion recreation activities fund and the Lions' playground, Col. Crawford post and the Lions club will act as co-sponsors at a donkey softball game at Lions field Tuesday. Players will be chosen from the two sponsoring clubs.

59 Batters Strike Out In NCO Tilt

WILLARD — An almost unbelievable total of 59 strikeouts were recorded as Mansfield Gorman-Rupp and the Willard Elks battled 16 innings to a 1-1 stalemate here last night.

Both teams scored in the first inning and then settled down to defensive ball as Gorman-Rupp's Bobby Regula and Willard's 19-year-old Jim Smith put on a brilliant hurling demonstration.

The game was called by agreement at midnight to allow several players on night shifts to go to work. The teams had battled for three and a half hours.

The tie enabled Mansfield to hold first place in the North Central Ohio Inter-City Softball league with two victories and no defeats against the 3 and 1 record of the Ashland Indians.

Smith gave warning that Willard is a foe to be reckoned with as he set 30 Gorman-Rupp batters down on strikes. He has allowed a total of five hits in three league games. Last summer he tossed a no-hitter and one-hitter in successive games against the state champion Schmidt's Beer team from Toledo.

Steve Gromek entered the massacre in the fifth and in the following inning gave up three more runs, two of them on a circuit clout by Dominic DiMaggio. Ed Klemm pitched the last two innings and kept the Sox scoreless.

Willard's run was also unearned as it came on a base on balls and a pair of wild pitches.

Regula got better as he went along to fan 29 batters.

Hager 12 Strokes Off Open Leaders

Mansfield's Al Hager shot 39-40—79 in the National Open at Los Angeles yesterday—12 strokes off the pace of Bantam Ben Hogan and defending champion Lew Worsham.

Hogan and Worsham fashioned four-under-par 67s over the longest course ever to play host to the National Open—the 7,020-yard Riviera Country club lay-out.

Despite their brilliance, they failed to dim the individual efforts of at least 20 other golfers who either shot or broke par.

Two strokes behind the leaders were Sammy Snead and amateur Ken Rogers of Oklahoma City, each with 69.

And only a single stroke behind them were Bobby Locke, the South African, Ted Rhodes, the crack Negro shot maker who teaches Joe Louis golf, and veteran Tony Penna, Cincinnati, each with 70.

Hager will play another 18 holes along with all others today and faces the task of staying in the upper half of scorers to be eligible for the final 36 holes Friday and Saturday.

In with even par 71 were 15 shotmakers, all well within striking range of the leaders. Among these were Lloyd Mangrum, the 1946 open champ; Marvin (Bud) Ward, former National Open kingpin; Jimmy Demaret, goldfom's "color guy" and always close to the leaders at the final tape; Jim Ferrier, 1946 National PGA titlist; Stewart (Skip) Alexander, the towering young ace from Lexington, N. C. and Herman Keiser, 1947 Augusta Masters champ.

The 72 division, one stroke over par, included Lawson Little, former U. S. Open and amateur champ; Frank Stranahan, the recent winner of the British amateur, and Chick Harbert.

Perrysville Man Hurt In Train Wreck

Laurel, Md., Mishap
Kills 1, Injures 32

PERRYSVILLE—Earl C. Webb of Perrysville was one of 32 persons injured yesterday when a crack Baltimore & Ohio train, the Diplomat, was derailed opposite the Laurel Park Race track in Laurel, Md.

Webb underwent medical examination today to determine the extent of his injuries.

Two other Ohioans both of Cleveland, also were injured in the wreck which took one life.

The dead man was tentatively identified as John Davenport of Jersey City. He is believed to have been a sleeping car porter.

The accident is believed to have been caused by a loose rail which caused the Diplomat, bound from St. Louis to New York, to leave the tracks. A west-bound New York to Washington local piled into the wreckage a few minutes later.

A further tragedy was averted when the Royal Blue, bound for Washington, came roaring down the tracks but slowed down in time to only sideswipe a few of the derailed cars. No damage was caused to the Royal Blue.

Galion Mayor Believes Birthday Secret

GALION—Dr. H. H. Hartmann, Galion's "marathon" mayor, is having a birthday anniversary Sunday, which he thinks is a secret. He will be 78 years old.

The "secret" came out when a reporter saw his wife buying ingredients for a cake this week. Whether or not the cake is for the doctor or his wife, Vurba, is still another secret, as she has a birthday anniversary herself tomorrow.

No celebration has been planned, but the mayor has been looking for a visit from his daughter, Mrs. Frank Luts of San Diego, Calif.

The mayor and his wife live in the home where he was born, but when the stork arrived 78 years ago the house was located farther south on North Market street. It was moved to the present site at 385 North Market street several years ago.

The mayor's father was A. H. Hartmann, a Galion druggist, who came to this country from Germany. It was probably those cans of pills in the drug store that gave H. H. the aspiration to become a doctor of medicine.

Doc Hartmann returned to the office of mayor last Jan. 1, after an absence of 13 years. He had previously served 18 years as mayor and is now in his 19th year (10th term).

He first served as mayor from 1910 to 1916, assuming the duties of head of the city again in 1920, and serving until 1924.

His third series of terms was served from 1926 to 1934. He tackled the job again this last January with the enthusiasm of a man 20 years younger, knowing that he was faced with many problems.

The mayor has three daughters, Mrs. Paul Millitt of Geneva, Ill., Mrs. Walter Williams of Galion, and Mrs. Luts of San Diego. He has five grandchildren.

Bank Declares $6 Dividend

A dividend of $6 per share, totaling $36,000, has been declared by the board of directors of the Mansfield Savings Trust National Bank. It is the 165th dividend declared in an unbroken series of annual and semi-annual payments made by the bank since 1875.

Meeting at the bank, the directors also elected John H. Ashbaugh to the board, filling the vacancy left by the death of the late Frank A. Voegelé.

Named to the advisory board were Benjamin Shaffer, William P. Leyland, James G. Courtney, and A. J. Burkhart.

Three Vice Presidents Named By Gorman-Rupp

Appointment of several new engineering, sales and production executives was announced today by the Gorman-Rupp company in connection with plans for enlarged manufacturing and sales operations.

Election of three new vice-presidents was announced by J. C. Gorman, president of the company. They are Warren E. Rupp, chief engineer; Walter O. Buehler of Muscatine, Iowa, vice-president in charge of engineering; and Kenneth H. Cadigan, vice-president in charge of sales.

Other appointments announced by the company are Nick Weber as production manager and George Norton of Davenport, Iowa, as pattern department foreman. George Schuchmann, formerly production manager, has been transferred to a position in the sales department.

Gorman said Buehler would be in charge of the design and engineering development of a complete new line of standard centrifugal pumps for industrial and municipal use.

DEVELOPED PUMP

Educated in Germany, Buehler holds a degree in mechanical engineering from Karlsruhe university, where he did extensive post-graduate work on pump design and installations.

Among his developments are specially designed propeller-type pumps for flood control, pumps for city water service and sewage handling pumps for the sanitary field.

He was chief engineer and vice-president of Carver Pump company when he accepted his appointment here.

WALTER O. BUEHLER

He has established his residence at 696 Highland avenue with his wife and two sons.

Warren E. Rupp, although only 27, is a veteran Gorman-Rupp employee, having helped as a boy in 1933 to crate the first pumps the company built in his father's barn near Alta. He received an engineering degree from Case Institute of Technology in 1942, served with the navy during the war and was released on a medical discharge.

He has been chief engineer for four years. He will continue as chief engineer in charge of self-priming centrifugal pump design. He lives at 715 Arlington avenue with his wife and two daughters.

Cadigan has been with the company for two and one-half years as sales engineer. As vice-president he will coordinate the company's expanded sales efforts with Fred L. Grimes, who continues as sales manager. H. W. Vine is manager of industrial pump sales.

Cadigan lives at 55 Wellington avenue with his wife and son.

Weber was graduated from the University of Tennessee in business administration in 1941. Since spending one and one-half years with the Army in World War II he has been in the production department of Tappan Stove company. He will be remembered for his athletic attainments at Senior High and Tennessee, for which he played football in the Rose Bowl, Sugar Bowl and Orange Bowl. He

Three Vice Presidents Named By Gorman-Rupp

Appointment of several new engineering, sales and production executives was announced today by the Gorman-Rupp company in connection with plans for enlarged manufacturing and sales operations.

Election of three new vice-presidents was announced by J. C. Gorman, president of the company. They are Warren E. Rupp, chief engineer; Walter O. Buehler of Muscatine, Iowa, vice-president in charge of engineering; and Kenneth H. Cadigan, vice-president in charge of sales.

Other appointments announced by the company are Nick Weber as production manager and George Norton of Davenport, Iowa, as pattern department foreman. George Schuchmann, formerly production manager, has been transferred to a position in the sales department.

Gorman said Buehler would be in charge of the design and engineering development of a complete new line of standard centrifugal pumps for industrial and municipal use.

DEVELOPED PUMP
Educated in Germany, Buehler holds a degree in mechanical engineering from Karlsruhe university, where he did extensive post-graduate work on pump design and installations.

Among his developments are specially designed propeller-type pumps for flood control, pumps for city water service and sewage handling pumps for the sanitary field.

He was chief engineer and vice-president of Carver Pump company when he accepted his appointment here.

WALTER O. BUEHLER

He has established his residence at 696 Highland avenue with his wife and two sons.

Warren E. Rupp, although only 27, is a veteran Gorman-Rupp employee.
